The plantation slaves became vital to Virginia's economy

The plantation slaves developed their own social strata

The artisans stood next on the social ladder

Coopers were among the most important enslaved workers on the plantations

Daily work was from dawn to dusk

Work continued throughout the winter months

Enslaved workers produced cloth at Monticello

Slaves provided the laundering for the main house and its free occupants

House servants often worked longer days than the field hands and artisans

Slaves received two meals per day

Enslaved brewers and distillers made Virginia plantations major producers of alcohol

Daily life often included resistance to enslavement

Many slaves in Virginia were hired out by their owners

Enslaved children were hired out in forced apprenticeships

Slaves in Virginia could also self-hire, and keep the wages earned

Some enslaved people were given access to education as children

The Nat Turner Rebellion increased hostility toward educating slaves

Virginia's enslaved workers sought to retain aspects of African culture and folklore

Punishments for enslaved workers were harsh, even by the standards of the day

Slavery continued in Virginia throughout the Civil War
